

Kemp Auto Museum

Located in the City of Chesterfield, Missouri - an area quickly becoming a focal point for business, commerce, and the arts in west St. Louis County — the Kemp Auto Museum campus is convenient to most of the Greater St. Louis area.

The museum is easily accessible from US Highway 40 and Chesterfield Airport Road, in the heart of the Chesterfield Valley. The active and bustling interchange is comprised of over one mile of recently developed commercial and retail properties that are collectively one of the largest shopping and dining destinations in the St. Louis area.

The Kemp Auto Museum is a short distance from all major interstates as well as Lambert St. Louis International Airport. Minutes away is the fast-growing regional Spirit of St. Louis Airport, serving corporate and private aviation, including jet service.
